

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Information indicating traveling states such as a traveling speed SPD is recorded in a computer for engine control. The recorded information can be read out using a self-diagnostic function after stopping of a vehicle. By a simple operation of grounding a certain terminal, it can also be displayed simply by blinking of a CE lamp. Since the record with high reliability remains, use can be made as materials on fair regulation.